Stage 5:

Arms length from target. On threat command, complete "speed rock" draw from holster with primary gun hand, while doing a distraction strike to the face of the target. Fire 2 rounds center mass while simultaneously taking two steps back, look and assess, scan and holster.

Time; 3 seconds

(Repeat drill 3 times)

Stage 6:

Arms length from target. On threat command, perform a "speed rock" draw. While performing the draw stroke, officer brings their support side arm up in an overhead blocking motion with the top of the forearm facing outward in the blocking motion.

Officer will then fire 2 rounds with the weapon pulled in close to the primary gun side, then take two steps backward away from the target returning to a two hand hold on the weapon. Officer will then look and assess, scan and return to the holster.

Time; 3 seconds

(Repeat drill 3 times)

Course of fire notes:

Stage's 1 through 4; Officer begins when the targets turn and "face" the officer.

Stage 5&6; Officer begins drill on "threat command" of knife, gun, etc. Targets will be facing the officer for this stage and will not turn.

Proper "scans" are performed by checking left and right with the weapon at a low ready position, then check over each shoulder to the officers 5 and 7 o'clock positions, then returning to the holster.

Total rounds: 39

Scoring requires 100 % for passing.

Reloading: Ammunition management is up to the officer. Tactical reloads will be suggested by the rangemaster and time will be given between stages to replenish magazines.

Fort Bragg Police Department Shotgun Qualification Course

Preparation:

Load four (4) rounds of 12 Gauge slug rounds in the magazine tube per department policy/procedure and go to "port arms" position.

Stage 1:

25 yards. When target "faces" officer fires 1 round center mass and immediately chambers another round. Look and assess and then assume the eyes -muzzle-target (EMT) position.

Stage 2:

At 25 yards, officer advances with shotgun at EMT position up to the 15-yard line and stops. When target "faces," officer mounts the shotgun from the EMT position and fires 1 round at center mass, immediately chambering another round.

Stage 3:

At 15 yards, officer assumes a "low ready" position and moves up to the 7 yard line. When the target "Faces," officer fires 1 round center mass, bringing the weapon up from low ready position then immediately chambers another round.

Stage 4:

At 7 yard line, officer assumes an "indoor ready" position with the shotgun and turns his/her left shoulder towards the targets, facing to the west. When the target "faces," the officer will mount the shotgun from the "indoor ready" position and fire 1 round at center mass. The shotgun is now empty so the officer racks the slide of the shotgun open and performs a transition to handgun drill firing 2 rounds at center mass of the target. After firing 2 rounds, officer will then complete a look and assess, scan and holster. Officer will then open the action of the shotgun, if it is not already open and quickly acquire two rounds from the ammo carrier on the shotgun. Officer will then perform a "combat load" of the shotgun by placing 1 round into the open chamber through the ejection port and actuating the slide forward. This is to be completed using the approved "combat load" procedure trained. Officer will then load the additional round into the magazine tube in the "sustain load" procedure. Officer will then cover down on the target until given a CODE 4 by the rangemaster. Officer will then clear the shotgun's chamber by taking out the round inside the chamber first and then reloading the round into the magazine tube, returning the weapon to "cruiser ready" condition. When completed properly, the officer will then download the shotgun, insuring it is empty, per department procedure as if securing the weapon back into the armory.

END OF COURSE.

Course of fire notes:

Stages 1 through 4; Officer begins drills when targets turn and “face” the officer.

Total rounds: 4 shotgun fired, 6 shotgun rounds needed. 2 pistol rounds fired.

Scoring: Requires 100% for passing.

Fort Bragg Police Department
Patrol Rifle Qualification

Preparation:

Load 1 thirty round magazine into the magazine well per department policy/procedure and go to port arms. Weapon safety/selector lever will be on safe setting. On the rangemaster command come to the "low ready position," and pull the charging handle loading 1 round into the chamber. Remove the magazine and ensure round was loaded into the chamber by checking position of the next round in the magazine.

Stage 1:

100 yards. When target "Faces" fire 5 rounds to center mass from a braced position in 60 seconds. Recover to standing. Look and assess then assume low ready position.

Stage 2:
